BAD BLAZE AT THE DIXON CEREAL CO. MILL EARLY TODAY

DEMENTTOWN PROPERTY WAS BADLY DAMAGED BY FIRE
THIS MORNING.

ORIGINATED IN COAL BINS

Mr. Forrest Has Had Bad Luck With Fire—Several Mills Were Destroyed.

Fire, believed to have originated in the coal bins at the Dixon Cereal company's mills on Depot avenue, caused great damage this morning, the amount being unknown until a careful examination is made of the grains, flour, etc., on hand and which were badly damaged by water. Mr. Forrest, however, states that the loss is fully insured.

The fire was discovered at about 6:20, and the fire department was summoned immediately. The fire fighters, upon arriving, found the boiler room and engine room a mass of flames and practically gutted while the flames had worked their way into the big mill building and were burning fiercely under a roof of tar paper and shingles.

Could Not Get In.

The dense smoke and heat made it impossible for the firemen to fight the roof fire from the inside and they were compelled to battle from the top a slow process, which necessitated the throwing of a great deal of water. After nearly two hours of the hardest kind of work the blaze was conquered, but not until tons of water had been thrown into the mill, soaking all the grain, flour and other stock which, of course, will have to be sold at a great sacrifice for chicken feed, etc.

Hard Luck With Fires.

John Forrest, the president of the company, has been especially unfortunate in the matter of fires. Some years ago, when he was the owner of mills in Chicago and Oregon, he boarded the train to go to Oregon, from Chicago, to inspect his property. Enroute, a message was delivered to him on the train informing him that his Chicago mill was burning, and when he alighted from the train at Oregon it was to find his Oregon mill a mass of flames.

Later, in Iowa, his mill properties were destroyed by fire, and about a year ago the local mill was threatened.

EGGS ARE CHEAPER.

The coming of spring was heralded today by a drop of one cent in the price of eggs, and every little drop has a meaning all its own—to the housewife. As the warm weather approaches, bidly begins to gather new energy and is more woe to lay eggs. Further decreases in the price of hen fruit may be expected.

TO INVADE CONGRESS

Suffragettes Plan Campaign
During Extra Session.

Women "Messengers From Home" Will Swoop Down on the House and Senate.

Washington, March 22.—Petticoated "messengers from home" in the shape of suffragettes will descend upon congress when it convenes, April 7.

One delegate from each congressional district will march in the procession on the day from a mass meeting in a downtown theater to the capitol, each delegate to buttonhole her own particular representative and insist upon his influence toward getting the ballot for women. The senate also will be invaded.

It was announced that these "messengers from home" also will renew the charges of incompetency against the local police for their alleged failure to protect the women in the suffrage parade of March 3.

This was a regular cabinet day, and before the meeting began Secretary Lane of the interior department decorated the president with the Indian headdress of Chief Hollow Horn Bear, who died here recently.

President Wilson was in his office early, saying he was entirely recovered from his slight indisposition of the last two days. Representative Underwood brought former Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio to pay his respects to the president.

Former Senator Obadiah Gardner of Maine, having refused the offer of commissioner of pensions, it is learned friends of Dr. D. C. Gentsch of New Philadelphia, Ohio, have renewed their efforts on his behalf for the place.

STORM CREATED GREAT HAVOC

TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH
WIRES DOWN IN ALL
DIRECTIONS.

Telephonic and telegraph communication with the outside world was but very little improved today, the storm of Thursday night and Friday morning having done most effective work in cutting off this communication.

Gangs of linemen are busy on the wires, but it will be some time before all the damage can be repaired.

The Western Union has no wire to Chicago and the Northwestern is operating its trains without orders from the Chicago headquarters.

Long distance wires are still down and it may be a week or ten days before all communication with neighboring towns is resumed.

The Easter Lilies

The Easter lily leans to me
As if it bade me stay
And from my mind put worldly things
A little while away;
I gaze upon it and can hear
The whir of angels' wings:
Thank Heaven for the higher hopes
The Easter lily brings.

The Easter lilies, as I pass
The window where they show
Their purity, bring back to me
The faith of long ago:
Again I hear my mother sing
The gentle Savior's love
Again I hear a call that's clear
Ring sweetly from above.

We reach for gain through all the year,
Forgetting those old prayers
Learned long before we learned to know
The world and its affairs:
But when, at Easter time, the pure
White lilies come again
Our thoughts turn Heavenward and Christ
Still sways the hearts of men.

While lilies come at Easter time
Love's kingdom shall endure;
The lily leans to me and I
Cease doubting and am sure:
My heart once more is lifted by
The songs the faithful sing:
Thank heaven for the higher hopes
The Easter lilies bring.

RIVAL FIREMEN BATTLE

Burlington (N. J.) Rival Bodies
Clash as Barn Burns.

Scores of Combatants Knocked Down and Windows Smashed as Horse Is Cremated.

Burlington, N. J., March 22.—Armed with fire hose, which played powerful streams of water, Burlington's two volunteer fire companies, the members of the town council and prominent city officials engaged in a pitched and wet battle here while a fire blazed merrily in a barn surrounded by frame buildings.

The warfare grew out of the neglect of the council to decide who is to be chief of the two rival fire companies, instead of having each one commanded by a respective head.

When both volunteer companies arrived at the scene of the fire conflicting orders were given by the two chiefs. Chief Eli Lawrence, Jr., had arrived first, and was giving orders to extinguish the spreading blaze when Chief Robert Barclay appeared with his red-shirted followers, and chose a different method of fighting the flames.

The next moment the members of the Endeavor company, composed of Burlington's leading citizens, switched the hose stream from the roof of the barn to the pit of the rival chief's stomach, and he was bowled over. Barclay's men then came to the rescue and turned their hose on the Endeavor nozzlemen.

Practically all the men of both companies were knocked over and stunned by the powerful streams and the hose, torn loose from the men holding. It lashed about in all directions.

As the writhing canvas tubes hurled in all directions windows were smashed and scores drenched and knocked down before the water could be turned off.

The barn was destroyed and a horse was cremated.

CAPT. M'GRATH SUNDAY

COUNTY.

HONORABLE MILITARY RECORD

Was Commander of Company G During Spanish-American War—
Beloved By All.

Obituary.

Captain McGrath was born at Woosung August 10, 1868, where he spent his boyhood days, being educated in the Woosung schools. He attended Dixon college, returning to Woosung, where he engaged in farming for several years. Later he moved to Dixon and engaged in the implement business, and has since resided here.

He was married to Miss Lillian Bogue, Oct. 24, 1894, and to the union eight children were born, five of whom survive and mourn with the sorrowing widow the death of a kind husband and father. The surviving children are: Elizabeth, Philip, Marguerite, Mary and Emma, three preceding him in death, Alice, James and Katherine. The deceased is also survived and mourned by one sister, Mrs. J. N. Atty of Chicago and two brothers, J. McGrath of Polk and E. T. McGrath of Woosung. To these relatives the sincerest condolence of a host of friends is tendered.

Military Record.

Capt. McGrath's record with the Illinois National Guard was one of which he was proud, and one which his companions hold to his everlasting credit. Starting as a private with the organization of the company in this city, he worked himself to the office of captain by faithful and careful attention to his duties, and as captain he was mustered into the U. S. service on May 11, 1898, leading and caring for his men during the Porto Rican campaign of the Spanish American war.

His attention to the comforts and wants of the members of his company engendered the love of every man of the company, which has lasted and grown ever since his resignation from the service fourteen years ago.

Mr. McGrath enlisted in the guard July 2, 1888, when Co. G was first organized by Col. Theodore Yewert, assistant adjutant general under Gov. Oglesby. Nine days after enlistment, on July 11, he was made a corporal and on March 13, 1889, he was elevated to a sergeant. His next promotion was on Sept. 11, 1893, when he was made second lieutenant. He filled this office until March 3, 1896, when he was elected captain. As captain he entered the U. S. service at Springfield May 11, 1898, being mustered out of the national service Nov. 5, of the same year. March 3, 1899, at the conclusion of his term of service, he resigned and retired to private life with an honorable record, Charles Frisby being elected his successor as captain.

264 POETRY BOOKS A YEAR

That is London Review's Estimate of Output of Season in England.

London—A statement recently made in a daily paper that present-day "British poets are few, and their output small," is taken exception to by several literary reviews, one of which says that 65 books of poetry were received by it for review during three months, and infers that modern English poets place at least 264 books, many of them containing good poetry, in the hands of the public every year. On this the Academy comments that few of these 264 volumes contain good poetry, many of them contain very moderate verse, most of them are negligible from a critical standpoint, and a few of them contain doggerel that is simply pathetic, written by persons who never had and never will have the remotest idea of what poetry is or means, that is to say, real poets are few and their output very slim.

And on the other hand, what's the use of a fellow marrying a girl whom he knows is a good cook, when he likewise knows that she will hire someone to do the cooking as soon as they are married?

There's a woman in Dixon who affirms she has been married sixteen years, and she further adds that she can remember the dates on every piece of money her husband has given her.

The state of Illinois has ten doorkeepers for every door at the capital. In view of which fact it is a wonder so many of the guilty statesmen escape.

A one-armed burglar has broken out of a jail in the southern part of the state. If he had both arms it is probable he would have taken the jail with him.

Maybe science can't lie, but it's a bet that some of the scientists can.

It's a long and lonesome ride
On the wagon.
And monotonous beside,
On the wagon.
But you don't see cows with wings

SECOND ARREST IN EATON CASE NEAR

Another Woman, in Addition to Officer's Widow, May Be Held.

LATTER'S DAUGHTER EXAMINED

Strongly Intimated at Hingham That a Lunacy Commission Will Be Asked for Before Mrs. Eaton
Is Brought to Trial.

Hingham, Mass., March 22.—Mrs. Ralph Keyes and Miss Dorothy Ainsworth, the two stepdaughters of Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, were put through a long examination here by State Detective John H. Scott and Deputy Sheriff John T. Condon in an effort to learn the identity of the person who purchased the arsenic with which it is alleged the admiral was murdered. Officer Scott admitted that another woman might be arrested shortly in addition to Mrs. Jennie May Harrison Eaton, who was charged with her husband's death. The detectives are very anxious to learn from Miss Ainsworth all she knows in connection with presence of poison in the Eaton home at Assinippi.

Mrs. Eaton Plans Defense. While the police were making every effort to strengthen their case against her, Mrs. Eaton planned her defense with her two attorneys in her cell at Plymouth jail. Earlier in the day she had sent a note to her daughter, bidding them to be cheerful and to take care of her mother, Mrs. Harrison, who is dangerously ill at the Eaton home.

It was learned here that a letter written by the dead naval officer a few days before he died, to a cousin in Boston was the principal cause of the arrest of Mrs. Eaton. The district attorney learned of the contents of the letter only a few hours before Mrs. Eaton was hurriedly taken from her house. While the contents of the letter are being carefully guarded, it is known that through it the police believe they have found a motive for the alleged murder.

Another Woman in Case. With the renewal of the search for the drug store where the poison was sold and the intimation that a second woman would be arrested soon, it was made plain that the hypothesis the police are working on will be the charge that Mrs. Eaton sent a woman close in her confidence to purchase the poison and the purchaser of the death potion was fully aware of the use to which it was to be put.

Chief Justice of the supreme court ordered that a special grand jury convene next week to hear the evidence against Mrs. Eaton. This action was taken at the request of District Attorney Barker, who is anxious to have an indictment returned if possible before March 28, the date set for the continued hearing of Mrs. Eaton's case in the Hingham court.

Lunacy Commission Talked Of. It was strongly intimated that a lunacy commission would be asked for before Mrs. Eaton could be brought to trial. Much credence is given this report owing to the statements made by Admiral Eaton some time before his death that his wife was crazy over the subject of poison and the later statement of Mrs. Harrison when she said: "I have often doubted my daughter's sanity."

Mrs. Eaton remained calm during her first day in jail. She arose at eight o'clock and asked for a light breakfast and then requested the jailer to allow her to take exercise and keep busy sewing or at household duties. Her quiet demeanor throughout the investigation and at the time of her arrest has been a source of wonder to all connected with the case. Seldom, if ever, has a woman held her self-control so well under similar circumstances.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF MOON

Only Persons in Western States, However, Were Able to See Spectacle.

Washington, March 22.—Beginning at about five o'clock this morning the moon was in total eclipse, but only the states on the western coast of the United States were able to obtain full benefit of the spectacle. The moon passed through the earth's shadow and was in total eclipse at about six o'clock. It emerged at about 8:45 o'clock. Observers in the eastern states were only able to see a partial eclipse very early in the morning and for a short time only.

found it very good for organic troubles and recommend it highly. I had displacement, back-

when standing on

it. I had organic displacement and

FACE DISGRACEFUL
WITH RASH

Large Scabs Would Form, Fester and Break. Itching and Burning.
Kept from Sleeping. Cuticura
Soap and Ointment Cured.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—"My trouble of skin disease started merely as a rash on my face and neck, but it grew and kept getting worse until large scabs would form, fester and break. This was just on the one side of my face, but it soon scattered to the other side. I suffered a great deal especially at night on account of the itching and burning. I would scratch it and of course that irritated it very much. This rash was on my face for about two years sometimes breaking out lots worse and forming larger sores. It kept me from sleeping day or night for a couple of months. My face looked disgraceful, and I was almost ashamed to be seen by my friends.

"A friend asked me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I would bathe my face with hot water and a lot of Cuticura
Soap, then I would put on the Cuticura Ointment. In less than two days' time, the soreness and inflammation had almost entirely disappeared, and in four weeks' time you could not see any of the rash.
Now my face is without a spot of any kind.
I also use them for my scalp and hair. They cured me completely." (Signed) Miss Pansy Hutchins, Feb. 6, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Ad-

THE MAN WHO WORKS

Long years ago, when Joe Miller was just starting to write his Jest Book, one of his favorites was this:

1st voice: I don't like our boss; he has too many favorites.

2nd voice: I know he has. But did you ever notice that his favorites do most of the work around the place?

How dear to the heart of the boss is the man who works, who eats work talks work, lives work, whether the boss is standing over him or not.

Any one can dream and build air castles. Any one can wish for big orders. Any one can get down on time and appear busy all day, but the man who works, who peels on his coat and does things—no wonder he is the boss's favorite.

While others are planning how they can get the order he gets it. While others are making ready to begin a job, he starts. While others are explaining why such a task is impossible, he interrupts with the news that he has done it.

Every boss favors his workers. He has to. Real workers are so scarce that he must favor them as a matter of self-preservation. If he didn't keep a few of them on his payroll the chances are he would have to go out of business.

WOULD SOAK BOXERS

$50 FOR KIDNEY BLOW

Tim Hurst, the veteran boxing referee and baseball umpire, has a novel suggestion, which was brought to the attention of the New York state boxing commission. Hurst says that the best way to compel boxers to obey the rules is the infliction of fines. "If a man persistently refuses to break out of clinches," says Hurst, "a fine of $25 or less, would make him obey. For the use of the kidney blow soak him $50. If he hits on the breakaway, take $50 more. But of course, these fines would apply only to big bouts in which the principals could afford to pay heavy penalties. In the smaller bouts fines of $5 and $10 would be sufficient. After fining rule breakers it would then be time enough to disqualify them for repeating these offenses."

MARCH "LAMB"
EXIT UNLIKELYWEATHER FORECAST FOR LAT-TER END OF MONTH SCHED-ULES STORMY PERIOD

Prof. Foster, the official weather forecaster of Washington, D. C., who predicted the extreme weather change experienced in this section a week ago, predicts alternating warm and cool waves between now the last of March. "Again," says Foster's bulletin, "we hang out danger signals for the period from March 16 to March 28. We have no doubt that very destructive storms will occur during that two weeks period, but, as we can not now locate them, all should be on the alert for them. Much property and some lives might be saved by being prepared. There are indications of more than the average rainfall for March 1913. But the rainfall will probably be in the country from Galveston, New Orleans, Houston, San Antonio and Dallas, north to eastern Kansas. It also promises rain in the New England states. Elsewhere probably dry. Large parts of the country are threatened with a March drouth and a general thaw."

Life of David Livingstone
Missionary and Explorer

Rev. Bradshaw of the First Baptist church in this city, has prepared, in honor of the 100th anniversary (on Wednesday, Mch. 19, 1913) of the birth of David Livingstone, a biography of his life, which is very interesting and instructive reading. We submit it to our readers:

One hundred years ago there was born at Blantyre, Scotland, a child of humble parentage who was destined to become one of the world's greatest liberators. He was christened by the good old Bible name David, just as Lincoln was christened by the Bible name, Abraham. David Livingstone, the hero of our story, meant to the abolition of the slave trade in Africa what Abraham Lincoln meant to Emancipation Proclamation in America. While Lincoln was leading the mighty struggle in America in the 60s, Livingstone was buried alive in the heart of African darkness discovering the horrors of the slave traffic. America knew the iniquity of slavery in its milder forms as compared with the scenes of horror in Africa where the slaves were taken.

From the shores of Nyassa, a lake in Southern Africa, which Livingstone discovered, there were dragged into bondage 20,000 colored people; and 20,000 more were slain in the process. The Boers who carried on this business, history identifies as descendants of the Portuguese. They would court the friendship of a tribe until sufficiently tame and then swoop down upon them with murderous fury and capture them by the hundreds and drive them in chained gangs to Zanzibar and sell them to Americans. It seems almost impossible to believe that this could have taken place almost within a half century of our own time. It took a bloody war with the memory of many now living to put an end to the part that civilized America took in the profitable business of buying and selling their brothers, which the Boers captured for them on the African continent. England abolished slavery in 1833 just seven years before David Livingstone sailed for Africa.

What caused Livingstone to leave his quiet home in Scotland and lose himself in the African wilds? It was due to the missionary spirit that was settling down upon the whole Christian world. The religious zeal to extend Christianity into lands where the Gospel had never been preached. A dozen missionary societies sprang into existence almost simultaneously, as if a great revival of religion had struck the Christian world. David Livingstone was caught by the revival spirit and gave himself to one of these societies to be sent out as a missionary. He wanted to go to China but the opium war prohibited him from going. He then surrendered his life to Africa.

On reaching Africa early in 1841, Livingstone was not content to settle down upon a mission field as most missionaries do. He spent the first few years in an attempt to establish himself as a settled missionary but all the while he said, "Providence seems to be calling me to the regions beyond," meaning by that the interior of Africa. "Who will penetrate Africa," was the cry of his heart from the time he touched the continent until August 24, 1850, when the ruling passion of his life was born, when he discovered for a certainty that God wanted him to penetrate Africa.

In 1852 Livingstone's devoted wife started for England to look after the education of their four children. On November 11 the lone missionary turned his back upon the civilized world in an attempt to realize the cherished ambition of his life. With a few servants and guides he began his perilous journey across the continent. The little company waded swamps, crossed swollen streams, plowed their way through jungle and forest for a thousand miles, from the east coast to the west, from Linxanti to St. Paul de Loanda. Eleven months of weary wanderings fraught with hardships impossible to describe brought the weary travelers to the west coast.

When Livingstone emerged from the forest he was a mere skeleton, having had thirty attacks of fever on the way. But what he had to tell the world as a result of the journey caused his name to carved high on the wall of fame. He was the best known, the best loved man in Africa, his biographers tell us. And when he went to England a few years he said he found himself almost the most famous man in London. The royal family welcomed him; statesmen, scientists and philosophers vied with one another in an effort to pay him honor. The universities conferred upon him their highest degrees and the Royal Geographical society awarded him a gold medal as an expression of their gratitude for the greatest triumph in geographical research effected in modern times. He was the popular idol of the mission societies and wherever he spoke myriads of people gathered to hear the man who had traveled over 11,000 miles of African soil and for years had been an eye witness to scenes of devastation and death hitherto unappreciated by the Christian world.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. DuVall, who have been visiting in Champaign, have been called home by the serious illness of their little grandson, Donald Ankeny.

Donald Ankeny, who has been quite ill with pneumonia, is slightly improved.

But while engulfed in this tidal wave of honor his heart began again to yearn for the benighted land. By some invisible means the cries of anguish from a whole continent resounded in his ears, and Livingstone was the only available man who could plead the case of an enslaved continent before the court of justice of a civilized world. So he said to his noble wife, "Whoever stays, we will go." Before he went he aroused the whole world by means of a picture of human suffering which he could not erase from the walls of his memory. Here it is on this one hundredth anniversary of his birth: It seemed for weeks that he could see nothing but visions of naked men with clubs and spears, bodies of slaves dead and dying, pestilence walking at noonday, destruction wasting at midnight, a land covered with skeletons, prayed on by fever, looted by slave drivers, appealing hands everywhere, and no deliverer—no physician.

On his return to Africa his wife died leaving him in utter loneliness. Broken-hearted but not defeated, he said in his solitude, "For the first time in my life I wanted to die." He planted the body of his dearest friend beneath a baobab tree in Shupanga on the Zambesi. And with his heart bleeding from the wound but healed again by the gentle touch of the "infinite finger of Gods" love he set out for the north central interior of the continent.

He was lost to the world for three years. Civilized man thought him dead, but he was traveling on to the 'regions beyond' in the name of humanity and humanity's God. It was the period of the most intense suffering of his life, but the time of his greatest achievement. He leaned heavily upon God in these days for his human strength was rapidly failing. It was upon this journey of 1000 miles that Stanley, sent out by the New York Herald, found him and entreated him to return home, but he would not. Stanley left him deeply impressed and with a burning message to give us concerning Livingstone's last days. The last white man to see him alive, the last white man of his own race to feel the throbbing of his superhuman life, was Stanley. On Stanley's return to civilization he said the travels of Livingstone in Africa when traced out on the map represent the form of a crude cross.

David Livingstone began to die on this cross the day he began to trace it out amid the jungles, forests and swamps of a benighted continent. His whole life was a living death something akin to that of his Master in whose name he traveled and preached and healed. Toward the end of his career, which was only a few weeks after Stanley left him, he became too weak to walk. His body was dying, but the call to the 'regions beyond' never died away; so his trusted servants carried his afflicted body the last few days of his travels while he reported conditions and made charts of the region.

Some time on the night of April 30 and May 1 God called him from his work to the 'regions beyond' in glory, for the servants found him dead at 4 o'clock in his tent. He was on his knees in the attitude of prayer with his face buried in his hands by the side of his bed. Such love as these servants showed has only been equalled by Joseph of Aramathea and Nichodemus, who took the body of Jesus from the cross and laid it in Joseph's new tomb. They embalmed Livingstone's body, carried it 1,000 miles to the shore, and gave it to English speaking people. Nearly a year after his death, April 18, 1874, he was laid to rest in Westminster Abbey.

PARTIAL FATALITY LIST OF STORMBOUND POINTS

The list of dead is far from complete, it is believed in the figures compiled here. Only meager reports have been received from Tennessee, where many small cities and towns have yet to report. It is believed that the total loss of life will approximate 100 or even may be higher. The reports received follow:

Chicago, March 22.—Probably over eighty-five persons were killed in the cyclone which swept ten middle western states. The number of injured probably will reach 500, and of these many more will die of injuries suffered in wrecks.

The property damage probably will reach $12,000,000. Wire destruction has been great and the full size of the calamity will be unknown for several days.

The states struck were Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi, Missouri and Louisiana.

Reports from Arkansas, north Mississippi, west Tennessee and south Kentucky are delayed because of an almost complete prostration of telegraph and telephone wires.

Telegraph Wires Down. No definite advices have been received from Hoxie, Ark., where the wind is said to have blown down a large number of houses and injured a score of persons.

Blazing a regular and semicircular trail, the storm, which at points gained hurricane force, struck the Gulf states of the south and swung northward and eastward over Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and New York.

A veritable Chinese wall was built up between the east and west, for telegraph and telephone wires were blown down, both the Western Union and Postal companies losing their trunk lines between New York and Chicago for many hours.

A private wire stood the strain, and late in the day roundabout routes were established for commercial business. Chicago and St. Louis communication was also cut off for a time.

Only the most meager facts were received from the storm-swept area, but from the advices at hand it is feared that the loss of life will be greater than that resulting from last week's storm.

Cold Wave Hits South. A cold wave, with freezing weather, extending as far south as Florida, accompanied the storm.

Lower Peach Tree, Alabama, was wiped out by a tornado. Eighteen persons were killed and the property damage will amount to thousands. Business houses and dwellings were leveled.

Five persons were killed and four injured and the town of Salene, in the northwestern part of Louisiana, was wiped out.

Hoxie, Ark., was blown away. Four were killed and fifty injured.

At Walnut Ridge, Ark., one person was killed and ten hurt.

At Poplar Bluff, Mo., it was reported seven were killed and 100 injured. The report of the number of dead was unconfirmed.

Twelve Incoming Ships Forced to Anchor Outside New York Harbor.

New York, March 22.—A heavy gray mist spread itself over the upper and lower bays here and imprisoned 4,000 passengers on 12 incoming steamers for several hours. Those that had reached quarantine in the early morning were able to creep to their piers during a rift in the fog at noon, but the France, which reached the entrance to the Ambrose channel later, was forced to drop anchor and notify the agents in this city that she would remain there all night.

The Swallow's Home.

The teacher in natural history had received more or less satisfactory replies to her questions, and finally she asked:

"What little boy can tell me where the home of the swallow is?"

Long silence, then a hand waved.

"Well, Bobbie, where is it?"

"The home of the swallow," declared Bobby seriously, "is in the stomach."

And Then?

After he had kissed her and pressed her rosy cheek against his, and patted her soft, round chin, she drew back and said:

"George, do you shave yourself?"

"Yes," he replied.

"I thought so," she said. "Your face is the roughest I ever—"

Then she stopped, but it was too late, and he went away with a cold, heavy lump in his breast.

"Christ Is Risen; I Will Arise"

HUMANITY had grown dry, old withered. All the best springs of its nature had dried up, and there was no flow of invigorating hope, and barely any thing of pureness and sweetness issuing from it. The emperor of the world was at once "a high priest, an atheist and a god." The fairest and noblest in life permitted their names to be inscribed upon the "tabulae" of those who had failed to maintain even the cleanliness of the flesh. The human race had gone to seed. But by the overruling of Providence, One Life had been prematurely maintained in righteousness, true to man's original, Divine type. Mown down by the sword of injustice, this harvested seed was sown in a garden in Jerusalem.

Sown, as the sower of wheat flings his good grain into the soil, and simply leaves it to the mercy of the Master of the earth and the Lord of life! As the farmer merely closes the field gate upon his seeded field and can do no more than wait! Just as we sow the forms of them we have loved, set a stone, or some mark to show where we have laid them, and come away to

"Soothe ourselves with weeping
Till life's long shadows break in cloudless love."

There is a wonderful vitality in a seed. A wealthy man once built a great stone tomb for himself and carved upon it: "This tomb, the everlasting abode of its owner, must not be opened to all eternity." Inadvertently the workmen buried a tiny seed with the impious dead man. Swollen by the moisture from his decaying corpse, it sprouted, found a crevice where light shone through, grew to it, and through it, and today a tall tree stands with its roots in the old tomb, and the stones so laboriously built into place are shattered and thrown aside by the relentless growing power of what had been contained in that tiny seed.

There is an immortal vitality about humanity. That sown in the garden at Jerusalem burst through the tomb, and appeared again, as much more glorious than the body which had been sown, as the field of corn is lovelier as it waves in the autumn sunshine than the bare grain the farmer sowed in the spring. "Sown in a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body."

It is a prudent thing, however, to apply the actual tests to the seeds of the crop, upon the vitality of which much may depend. That sort of a test was applied to humanity at Easter time. One of ourselves, bone of our bone, flesh of our flesh, was sown, and by the mastery of the Master of Life, the resurrection process was accelerated, and the innate vitality of man was proved to be a great, glorious reality.

It is the message of spring. It comes to encourage us, just when we are committing so much wealth to the soil, and its Master. It says to the farmer, "have no fear for results, since the flowers have come through the ground, your grain will also come. The Easter lily is a sign to you of the gracious beauty which will crown your hard labor, which will follow what is so disagreeable at the moment. There was nothing lovely about the lily bulb, remember!" The resurrection message is a signal set up in the race through life, reminding it that there is nothing more certain than

"That men may rise on sleeping stones
Of their dead selves to higher things."

"He is not here," said the heavenly intelligence to those who sought a dead body in the tomb. To the world of men the message runs, "do not grope in the grave of disappointed hope, or of unfulfilled desire." "Newness of life" is yours. Let the past lie dead, as it will. New days arise for you, with new hopes, better openings. You can never lose vitality! While there is life there is hope. And hope persevered in finds certain fruition at harvest time.

"He is Risen" rings out from the stone beside the tomb. And the little crocus bud, thrusting itself through even snow and cold, points the message:

"Since I am here doubt not He rose.
And keep with me this Easter day."

For he was just the testing seed, the first fruits. If he rose, so will our blessed dear ones in like manner, ever so much better for having been laid aside as the watchmaker lays your watch to pieces on his tray.

The answering message is not simply "I, too, shall rise, some day." Not only the half comforted cry of bereavement, "I shall meet them all again some time." That is a graveside morality which is only half religious. The true answer to the Easter call "He is Risen" is, "I will arise, and go to my Father, and will say unto him, Father!"

"Resurgam!" "I will arise!" That is humanity's watchword now. There is no need for hiding even under the shadow of the cross itself. No shirking of hard duty, even for the blessed security of a life given to devotion and contemplation, away from life's temptations. No sitting under the willow trees in helpless grief. Merry ringlets of golden beauty bedeck even the willows at Easter time.

With all the world springing into renewed activity, man too, cries from his failures, his griefs, his backsliding, "I will arise and go to my Father." Every night he reminds himself, "I shall arise again tomorrow to a new life, somewhere." Every time he slips back in some manner, he cries, "I will arise." Resurrections are occurring all around us every day. New grip is taken on work here, new hope of better life there, everywhere the world is trying to rise and bear flowers, not thorns, for no one now deliberately starts out to do any but the right thing.

If a little flower can preach an Easter message, how much more a man or woman or child? Cheery fighting against trouble and difficulty has blessing in it for all who witness it. In rising to better things by sheer hard climbing, many another is helped too. The ruin of a man, who has found his way back to the strength which has made a man of him again, is almost one to whom others look and almost incredulously cry, "He is Risen," and possibly some one may say, "Then will I also cry, 'I will arise and go to my Father' also."

In the words of one of the sweetest of the Easter hymns, written just as its author was telling his dying body, "I will arise," the Easter message, translated into action, has for its motto:

"I fear no foe, with Thee at hand to bless;
I have no weight, and tears no bitterness;
Where is Death's sting? Where is Grave thy victory?
I triumph still, if Thou abide with me."

Sharing in Easter.

To have lost no joy, buried no hope, known no suffering is to come to Easter day with little sense of its meaning and fellowship. Only those who have deeply suffered can enter deeply into its glorious message.

Easter is the symbol of life triumphant, life more abundant, life rejoicing over death. It is the birthday of immortality, to be celebrated by all men with gladness. Whatever hope has been defeated in our lives, Easter offers us the victory. The dead we loved are not dead; they live forever in newness of life, awaiting our entrance into immortality. The things we have hoped to do, the things we have longed to reach, are only anticipations, after all, of what the soul shall possess in the larger life that Easter foreshadows.

In our modern living, of the day and for the day, the thought of immortality is often pushed aside. Easter bodies it out afresh—immortal love, immortal life, endless joy, everlasting hope, a clarion call of power—Harper's Bazar.

Origin of the Easter Egg Custom.

The favor accorded to eggs among Eastertide observances is said to have originated from the ancient worship of Ostara, goddess of the East, whose feast was celebrated with much eating and drinking, many special offerings being made, including the egg of sea fowl. From northern Germany the worship extended into Great Britain. The Anglo-Saxon name for April, the season of the festival, was Easter month, and in Germany this month is still known as Ostermonath. Many other of the popular Easter observances, especially in the Netherlands and Germany indicate traces of similar origin. The egg is symbolical of the resurrection.

Dr. Gable Talks About Chronic Diseases

I want to say a few words to people suffering with rheumatism, uric acid troubles, kidney and bladder troubles, heart diseases and stomach and liver troubles. These diseases are all caused from practically the same thing, and you might call them first cousins in the beginning there is some derangement of digestion or of the secretions. This allows the partly digested food to pass into the blood in such a state that the blood cannot assimilate all of it. As a result of this there is a great deal of waste matter that must be carried off through the kidneys and skin, and the kidneys become gradually clogged up, causing reabsorption of this waste matter into the blood. It then settles in the muscles, nerves, in the small capillary blood vessels, or in the joints, and causes the disease.

I want to state positively that everyone of the above diseases is curable with my Neuropathic system of treatment, if the patient comes to me before too much of the tissues of the diseased organ are destroyed. My system of treatment cleanses and purifies the blood. It restores normal circulation and strengthens the nerves, and dissolves disease deposit. I would like every sufferer of these troubles to come to me on this trip to Dixon. I will take the time to make a thorough examination of the heart, the circulation, the blood and the kidneys, and when I have finished, I will tell them exactly what their condition is; whether they can be cured or not.

Catarrh of the nose, throat, or constitution, deafness, head noises, and ulcers of the ears come from the same causes as rheumatism. I have treated hundreds of cases of catarrh and deafness with my new system of treatment, curing them completely, and restoring perfect hearing. All cases of weak eyes, chronic inflammation of the eyes, internal eye diseases and partial blindness are successfully treated by my method. Every form of weakness and disease of the nervous system especially that kind that effects the heart, causing palpitation, shortness of breath, irregular pulse, smothering spells, dizzy spells, sick headaches, pain around the heart—all these troubles are given almost immediate relief by my treatment. Men and women suffering with weakness of some of their vital organs, no matter where, can obtain complete relief by my system of treatment. All chronic discharges, all wastings are curable.

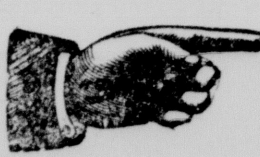

I have treated a great many people in my previous visits to Dixon, and have had wonderful success with many old chronic cases. On this trip I am going to make examinations, give consultations, and offer my services free again to every sufferer that comes to me. I am not going to leave you any excuse for not learning of this treatment. I believe it is the only scientific treatment. You have everything to gain and absolutely nothing to lose by getting my professional opinion of your case, by learning exactly the condition you are in, and by knowing the condition of your heart, nerves, blood and kidneys. I use no strong poisonous remedies, but such remedies as dissolve and clean out the disease deposits in the blood and tissues that equalize circulation, that restore strength and vitality to weak nerves. When this is done you are bound to get well. No matter where you live, rich or poor, I want you to come to see me this trip. You can do a kindness to some suffering neighbor or friend by telling them of my visit and my new system of treatment. Tell them to come and see me. You will also help me do them a kindness. While I will return to Dixon twice a month, this may be the last chance you will have to obtain my services free. My object is to cure a number of patients around Dixon to prove that my system of treatment is superior to others. Remember the days. I will be at the Nachusa House from Monday noon, March 24, until Wednesday night, March 26. I will receive patients from 9 in the morning until 8 in the evening, each day.

Keeping the Body in Repair

Nature intended that the body should do its own repairing—and it would do so were it not for the fact that most of us live other than a natural life.

Nature didn't intend that we should wear corsets, tight collars or shoes, nor live in badly ventilated and draughty houses, nor eat and drink some of the things that we do, nor ride in street cars when we should walk. The consequence is that the body when it gets out of order must look for outside help to make the necessary repairs.

For weak stomachs and the indigestion or dyspepsia resulting, and the multitude of diseases flowing therefrom, no medicine can be more adaptable as a curative agent than DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

This famous Doctor's prescription has been recommended for over 40 years, and is today just as big a success. Restores a healthy appetite. Cleanses the blood. Strengthens the nerves. Regulates stomach and liver. Demand the original.

West Brooklyn boasts an expert dentist in Dr. Tucker, located at the Hotel Tressler.

We are certain you will like the work if you will give us your job printing orders.

F. H. Delhotel was here from Lee Center township Monday.

The pupils of the West Brooklyn high school will give an entertainment in the opera house soon. Just keep this in mind and enjoy a good home talent play.

M. J. Bieschke has equipped the proprietor's desk of the Bieschke store with a new Oliver type writer. This will afford that establishment a business like way of attending to their correspondence from now on. We refer to the form and not to the substance of his writing.

WARNING. Those who are determined to dance the bear dance, the turkey trot, and the bunny hug or any other such dance at the next ball in the opera house, had better stay away. West Brooklyn is going to have the reputation of having only the cleanest sort of dances and who dare deny her that right? By order of the manager of the local opera house.

Prosper Gander, our traveling mason contractor, is already overburdened with contracts for work and is certain to have a busy year. He has established a reputation during his years of contracting here that gives him the preference over most of his competitors.

Henry Halboth was here on business Tuesday.

To enjoy a pleasant evening, drive to the Van Campen school Saturday night, March 29th and attend the entertainment and box social given by the school. Miss Eva Holdren, teacher.

Take an afternoon off Saturday, March 29th, and attend C. H. Oesters' sale at his home in West Brooklyn.

Faley Bresson was in town on business Wednesday.

Alois Graf was a visitor in West Brooklyn Tuesday.

W. A. Mireley returned home Tuesday morning from a few days visit in Dixon and Sterling with his son Guy, and family.

Andrew Barr was a business visitor here Monday.

Village treasurer Oliver L. Gehant has just received his check from Tax Collector William Wigum for the portion of the taxes collected from the road and bridge fund inside of the new corporation which our hustling mayor and his village board have perfected during the past year. They deserve much credit for their untiring efforts in this work and now our inhabitants can profit by the increased revenue and everyone will admit that the treasury will never complain a bit. Now the villagers themselves, can fix their own streets and need not await the highway commissioners of the whole township and ask them to do it with township funds.

John C. Henkel was in town on business Monday.

We sell Illinois Life Insurance policies because we firmly believe that they are the kind that every man and woman should have and are as good as a government bond. Illinois Life policies guarantee where other insurance companies only promise. Insure today with Henry F. & Oliver L. Gehant, West Brooklyn, Ill.

Julius Delhotel of Viola transacted business here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chaon of Compton visited over Sunday here with their parents.

The Forrester's dance will be held Monday evening, March 31st. Every one is cordially invited to attend the first big dance after Easter. Come and see the new electric lights which will illuminate both the opera house and our streets on that occasion.

Adolph Chaon was here on business Monday afternoon.

Ladies calling cards printed at the B. F. Shaw Ptg. Co., Dixon, Ill.

L. F. Rees of Viola, who is tax collector of his township, stopped off in West Brooklyn Tuesday on his way back from Dixon where he returned his tax books to county treasurer F. C. Vaughn. Mr. Rees deserves great credit for his splendid showing down in his township, for he has collected about $4000 nearer the limit on his delinquent list than any of his predecessors for many years. Viola always has been a hard proposition for any tax collector on account of the many non-resident land owners in the town. It is no more trouble for them to remit to the county seat than it is to pay the collector and as they have a few weeks longer by paying the treasurer they generally take advantage of it and help very materially in increasing the collector's delinquent list. Mr.

Rees got along very nicely with them this year and has made a splendid showing.

H. J. Lipps was here on business Tuesday.

William Wigum returned his tax books to the treasurer in Dixon Saturday. He made a great showing as always and his delinquent list was very small. William has one thing to his credit at the end of his year's work and that is, 'He is the first tax collector of Brooklyn township to pay any portion of his tax collections to the village treasurer of West Brooklyn.'

Arthur Ziebarth drove up from his home on route three Tuesday afternoon for a visit.

Rumor says that West Brooklyn is to have an up to date garage this summer and that a large concrete block building is to be erected for that purpose. We hope the report is correct.

Supervisor J. W. Banks of Compton is to have his office for another term without opposition. His ticket seems to be the only one in the field for the township offices and this will assure a very quiet election day and a small vote. There was some rumor that F. W. Meyer would make the race but this was false and in conversation with him he states that he does not care for the office at all. Some had Ex-supervisor H. F. Gehant again in the field but there was nothing to this report. Mr. Gehant states that he is entirely out of politics and will accept no office whatever. His health would not permit his acceptance, even if he were willing to accept public office again. C. A. Jeanblanc, whose term as highway commissioner expires this year, will not be a candidate to succeed himself and in his place appears the name of Adam Maelbrecht. We are not familiar with the balance of the ticket headed by Mr. Banks.

If you are desirous of buying a new automobile and want a good standard make car attend C. H. Oesters' sale Saturday afternoon, Mar. 29 in West Brooklyn. The sale starts at 1 sharp.

The pupils of the high school are practicing for the play they are to give in the opera house and say that all who attend will enjoy the drama greatly.

For letter heads go to the B. F. Shaw Ptg. Co., Dixon, Ill.

William Biggart Jr., went to Amboy Monday night to attend St. Patrick's day dance.

Louis E. Bauer was here from Viola on business Tuesday.

Wm. Fairchild writes his father from Walnut, Kas., that they had a severe hail storm there the 15th. Windmills etc., were damaged in the storm.

F. D. Gehant has sent up a ticket from Viola which is to be voted upon at the primaries this month in his city. He is named as a candidate for the office of alderman and from the way we read ballots in West Brooklyn, we would say that he has no opposition.

August Gehant was a visitor in West Brooklyn from Viola township Tuesday afternoon.

It is a pleasant item to report that Mrs. Kathryn Meyer is much improved in health of late.

Morris July visited in Amboy with relatives and friends several days last week.

Mrs. Mary S. Johnson in writing to us from California tells of the lovely weather they are enjoying at present. As she wrote she sat in the shade of the veranda of her cottage surrounded by shading trees and blooming flowers. It is the ideal period of the year there now. She says the severe cold spell which that country suffered this winter, did much damage to vegetation of the state. It was something unheard of before out there and Californians cannot understand it. We notice in the sporting pages of the Chicago dailies that the Chicago White Sox baseball team are in training at Pasadena and they report splendid weather also. We suppose Mrs. Johnson and her family get to see that famous ball team at play most every day.

Didn't that sudden storm Sunday afternoon remind you that it is now time to take out that tornado and cyclone insurance policy to protect your property with Henry F. and O. L. Gehant?

Adam Roeder was here on business Tuesday.

F. W. Meyer was in Dixon Saturday on business.

The mail carriers have been unable to make their entire routes these days, owing to the condition of the roads. The residents bear with the boys however, and but little complaint is heard.

C. C. Weber was here from South Brooklyn Tuesday.

Martin Halbmaier returned home from Chicago Saturday night, having sold a car of hogs to the Chicago market for his father.

Leo Mettelle has returned from Odell and will work near here this season.

John Haub was here on business Tuesday.

Nick Hahn will leave in a few days for South Dakota where he purchased a farm and will move in another year. He will be located a half mile from Mike Lauer near Winfred and in the neighborhood of many who have gone from here to make their home there. We are sorry to have Mr. Hahn leave us but extend him our best wishes for a happy and prosperous home in the new state.

J. P. Sondgeroth was here on business Wednesday.

Amel Henry went to Amboy Tuesday to visit relatives.

F. D. Gehant of Viola stopped off here Tuesday on his return from Dixon to his town.

The Band boys had a very promising rehearsal Tuesday night with all members present. They are bang away at their new music and are bound to be in trim for the summer concert season again.

H. A. Bernardin and son Joe went to Chicago Wednesday to spend a couple of days buying furniture and lumber for the stores.

Brooklyn township has little excitement in politics this year but Viola has less excitement. There is not a single candidate up for office this year in that township and those who vote will have to carry a blank ballot in to the booth and insert the name of their choice. This is something you seldom see in this neighborhood. We have just been told that the only ticket in this township reads as follows: J. W. Banks for supervisor; Adam Maelbrecht for highway commissioner; H. A. Bernardin and J. E. Betz for justice of the peace; Charles Carnahan and John Derr for constable; John Fassig and Wm. Utch for school trustee.

Miss Anne Becker visited friends in Pawpaw Tuesday.

Mrs. F. J. Gallisath went to Compton Tuesday to visit her son Joseph, at the Chandler hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis. We are glad to know he is getting along nicely.

Mrs. Blatz returned to her home in Dixon Wednesday after a visit with Mrs. Frank Hoggart and Mrs. Maude Christiane.

Do not forget the high school play and the Easter ball in opera house soon.

O. N. Daw went to Dixon Tuesday night in connection with business regarding settlement of her father's estate.

Owing to bad weather the men employed by the Utilities Company did not get West Brooklyn electrically lighted by Tuesday night; now the date is set for Saturday. They have been stringing wire all week and putting in the transformers at several distributing stations. We believe they use 5 in West Brooklyn.

Mrs. Harry Durr of Harmon is visiting her brother W. J. Long and family here.

Mrs. Frank Knauer and Mrs. Andrew Chaon were guests of relatives in Compton Tuesday.

Frank Biers went to Mendota on Wednesday to visit friends.

The interior of St. Mary's church will be decorated and rescored. The work is estimated at about $1,000.

The people of the M. E. church have prepared an extra service for Easter Sunday and invite the public to attend. They will start at 2 in the afternoon.

EX-GOVERNOR BLACK DEAD

Heart Disease Kills Man Prominent in National Republican Politics.

Troy, N. Y., March 22.—Former Gov. Frank S. Black, long prominent in national Republican politics, died at his home here this morning. Valvular disease of the heart, with which he had been afflicted for some time, was the cause. Mr. Black was born at Limington, Me., March 8, 1853. He was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1875 and for a time was editor of the Johnstown (N. Y.) Journal. In 1879 he was admitted to the bar. He served as a member of congress from 1895 to 1897 and occupied the gubernatorial chair from 1897 to 1899.

RELEASE MISS PANKHURST

London Suffragette Wins Freedom by Her Hunger Strike.

London, March 22.—Sylvia Pankhurst, by means of her hunger strike, has won her release from Holloway prison, the authorities having decided that further imprisonment would endanger her life. Miss Pankhurst was sentenced on February 18 to two months imprisonment on the charge of breaking windows in the East end of London. When placed in prison Miss Pankhurst immediately started her hunger strike and persisted in it, though the authorities adopted the method of feeding her through a tube.

Mrs. McMahon and her sister, Mrs. Mathews served dainty refreshments, and a social hour was enjoyed over the tea cups.

ICE CRUSHES WHALERS

Floes From Arctic Smash 3 Vessels to Splinters.

Disaster Near Siberia—Four Live Three Months on Walrus—Walk 100 Miles to Nome.

Nome, Alaska, March 22.—Sam Gottschalk of the whaling schooner Maras has reached Nome, after a trip of 100 miles over the breaking ice in Bering strait, with news of the loss of the schooners Kittiwack and Moras and of hardships endured by members of the crew. The two schooners were caught in the ice near the Siberian shore last fall at the time of the freeze up and landed boats to prepare winter quarters.

Before the men were able to land all their provisions or make extensive preparations for the winter a great storm arose and they were unable to return to their vessels.

During the storm the ice coming down from the Arctic ocean caught the schooners and crushed them into a shapeless mass. The crews, consisting of Gottschalk, George Koren, a naturalist, the owner of the Kittiwack; Albert Gunderson and Gus Schroeder, started out in the lone remaining whale boat in a desperate attempt to cross the strait through the open leads to the great floes to the Seward peninsula.

Captain Witting of the Moras refused to accompany them and started south along the Siberian coast in an attempt to reach Plover bay, where is an Eskimo settlement. Whether he arrived there is not known.

The party in the whaleboat encountered a terrific storm near Big Diomedes island, and their boat was smashed to splinters in the surf and ice floes when they landed. For three months the men subsisted on walrus, living in huts constructed of stones and ice before they were able to attempt the passage over the broken ice to the Seward peninsula and Nome.

TALE OF CANNIBALISM

Yaqui Indians Eat Soldiers' Bodies During War Dance.

Women and Children Flee From Cananea, Mex., in Anticipation of Rebel Attack.

Douglas, Ariz., March 22.—A tale of cannibalism was received from Mexico here. After the fighting north of Del Rio, according to this message, a band of Yaqui Indians from the deepest interior of Sonora, who are fighting as allies of General Obregon's insurgent troops, held a feast and war dance, eating the bodies of a number of soldiers, who were picked up on the battlefield. General Obregon has ordered a strict watch kept on the Indians to prevent a recurrence of the terrible orgies.

A large number of women and children, among them numerous Americans, were brought here in automobiles from Cananea, Mex., in anticipation of the attack on that town of the allied forces of rebels. The large rebel forces commanded by Generals Dieguez and Bracamonte are preparing to attack the well fortified garrison of Cananea, consisting of 300 men under Colonel Moreno.

Klotz; war, Eugene Etienne; marine, Pierre Baudin; agriculture, Etienne Clementel; colonies, Jean Moreau; public works, M. Thiery; commerce and post office, Louis F. A. P. Masse; labor, M. Cheron.

START UTAH PENSION LAW

Working Women to Receive Monthly Allowance for Each Child.

Salt Lake City, March 22.—The mothers' pension law passed by the Utah legislature became effective. Mothers who are compelled to work for a living will receive $10 per month to support one child and $5 for each additional child. The law's aim is to permit mothers to remain at home with their young children in order to properly rear them.

3,000 on Special Easter Visit.
 New York, March 22.—Twelve special trains from Montreal brought 3,000 Canadians to New York for an Easter pilgrimage. It is a record, more than a thousand more than came last year. Most of the visitors explain their coming as due to "just plain spring fever."

Miss Smith Resumes Position.
 Gary, Ind., March 22.—Miss Ethel Smith, the Gary girl for whom Billy Ruth laid down his life last October that she might live, has recovered sufficiently to once more resume her position as cashier in a Broadway department store.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY FORCES THE ISSUE

Prepares Strong Ultimatum to Montenegro in Regard to Scutari.

WAR SCARE ARCUSES EUROPE

French and German Chauvinism and the Balkan Embroglio Engage the Diplomats—Continued Trembling on Verge of Big Crisis.

Vienna, Austria, March 22.—The Austria-Hungary government is preparing an ultimatum to Montenegro, according to an unofficial statement here. The ultimatum was decided upon, it is said, owing to the unsatisfactory nature of the reply to the Austrian remonstrances regarding Scutari.

Atrocities Arouse Austrians. Vienna, Austria, March 22.—Reports of frequent atrocities perpetrated by Montenegrin and Serbian troops on defenseless Albanian women and children are exciting indignation in Austria-Hungarian official circles. According to the accounts received here, the barbarities exceed any formerly committed by the Turks against the Montenegrins.

Servians are alleged to be especially brutal. Their troops are perfectly disciplined, but they are said to show no mercy toward Albanian nationalities.

Frontier Situation Alarming. St. Petersburg, Russia, March 22.—The situation on the Russo-Chinese frontier in Mongolia and Manchuria is alarming. It is reported that in Manchuria all commercial connections with China have been broken off as the result of Chinese hostility. The republic is not responsible for the trouble, which was provoked by Russia.

Fear of War Arouses Europe. Paris, France, March 22.—Europe is trembling on the verge of one of those periodic crises when the outbreak of a general war is apparently merely a matter of chance. The last of such crises was during the French occupation of Morocco in the spring of 1911. Here are the external evidences of the present tension between France and Germany.

Both are swept by ways of chauvinism; each is accusing the other of willful provocation, and each is projecting large increases of armament. Russia is maintaining mobilization on its western frontiers and is also dispatching troops to Mongolia. Austria is heavily mobilized on its eastern and southern frontiers. Austria and Italy, though mutually jealous, are projecting a joint naval demonstration against Montenegro. Belgium, frightened at the warlike preparations of its neighbors, is about to reorganize its army.

French Warring in Morocco. France is still engaged in a costly war in Morocco, having now 80,000 soldiers there. The Tripolitan Arabs are planning a renewal of resistance to the Italian occupation of their country. England is reviving the talk of compulsory service. Roumania is still threatening to attack Bulgaria. The conclusion of peace in the Balkan war will add many new problems to the diplomatic muddle. For example, the Serbian-Bulgarian jealousies must be thrashed out, and also the Grecian-Bulgarian jealousies. Russia, Austria and Italy are all suspiciously interested in the new Balkan frontiers, and may seize any pretext to enforce their views with cannon.

WEBB LIQUOR ACT HIT

Cabell Says His Office Will Not Enforce Law.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Tells Inquirers to See Local U. S. Attorney as to Enforcement.

Washington, March 22.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue Cabell has given notice that the Webb act, prohibiting the shipment of liquor into prohibition territory for general sale, will not be enforced by internal revenue officers. Since the bill was passed over the veto of President Taft, the commissioner has had frequent letters from interested persons, who want to see it enforced. In response, the commissioner has had a formal letter prepared, which is being generally distributed. This letter follows:

"In reply to your letter, you are informed that the Webb liquor bill, entitled 'An Act Divesting Intoxicating Liquors of Interstate Character in certain Cases,' was passed on the first instant over the president's veto in the house, having previously passed the senate over the veto, and is now to be enforced by this bureau. Questions relating to the effect of the enforcement of its provisions should be addressed to the United States attorney for your district."

Buffalo "Masher" Fined $700. Buffalo, N. Y., March 22.—Leon de Varion, a waiter, must pay a fine of $700 or begin to serve 150 days in the penitentiary, the heaviest sentence imposed on a "masher" in the history of the city court. Varion was convicted of pressing unwelcome attentions on a sixteen-year-old girl while riding on a Niagara street car.
